OUR VERDICT

Handy for your own videos — use it with care

Offline video tool

MovieJack does one job: it saves online video and audio to your computer so you can watch or listen without internet. According to Engelmann, it saves video as MP4 or MKV up to 4K, audio as MP3, M4A or Opus, keeps subtitles, handles several downloads at once and can send finished files to your phone by QR code. That is genuinely useful for backing up your own channel, keeping lectures and Creative Commons material for a trip, or archiving content you have permission to keep. The important part is the "permission": YouTube and most streaming services do not allow downloading other people's videos with third-party tools, and copyright protects most films and music. Used for your own and properly licensed content, MovieJack is a simple, inexpensive tool — $19.99 once, with a 60-day money-back guarantee.

What we like

- Simple offline copies. Paste a link, pick a format and the file is on your PC.
- Video and audio formats. MP4 or MKV up to 4K; MP3, M4A or Opus audio.
- Subtitles kept. Subtitles can be saved and embedded automatically.
- Several at once. Multiple downloads in parallel, plus a list to save later.
- Phone transfer. Send finished files to your phone by QR code — no cable or cloud.
- Small price, safe to try. $19.99 once with a year of updates and a 60-day money-back guarantee.

Good to know

- Only save what you may keep. Your own uploads, Creative Commons, public domain or content you have permission for — not other people's videos or paid streams.
- Site terms apply. YouTube's terms do not allow third-party downloading of others' videos; use its own offline feature instead.
- Updates matter. Websites change often; the price includes one year of updates, after which some sites may stop working.
- No DRM content. It is not for copy-protected movies or music from streaming services.

Use it responsibly: only save videos and audio you own, that are licensed for copying (such as Creative Commons or public domain), or that you have permission to keep. Respect each website's terms of use and the copyright rules in your country. This review does not explain how to save content from services that forbid it.

HOW IT WORKS

Saving your own or licensed content in four steps

1

Check you may save it

Use the “May I save this video?” tool below. Your own uploads, Creative Commons and public-domain content are the typical cases.

Source	My own channel
Licence	Mine / CC BY
Permission	✔
OK to save	Yes

2

Paste the link

Copy the address of your video (or search inside MovieJack) and paste it into the program.

Link	pasted
Preview	shown
Title	My lecture, part 1
Length	42 min

3

Choose format and quality

Pick MP4 or MKV and the resolution for video, or MP3, M4A or Opus for audio only; switch subtitles on if available.

Format	MP4
Quality	1080p
Subtitles	embed
Folder	Offline library

4

Save and take it along

Start the download, then open the folder or send the file to your phone with the QR code.

SETUP GUIDE

Installing and using MovieJack

Installation takes a few minutes. Start by saving one of your own videos to see how it works.

1

Buy and download

Check out on Digistore24 ($19.99 one-time). You land on the download page straight away, and your serial number arrives by e-mail.

- Keep the Digistore24 order e-mail — it has the download and refund links.

2

Install on Windows

Close open programs, run the installer and follow the steps. MovieJack runs on Windows 7, 8, 8.1, 10 and 11.

3

Activate

Start MovieJack and enter the serial number from your e-mail. Copy and paste it to avoid typos.

4

Choose your save folder

In the settings, pick a folder for your offline library — for example “Offline library” on a drive with enough space.

- Use the space calculator above to plan.

5

Check the permission

Before each download, make sure you may keep a copy: your own upload, Creative Commons, public domain or written permission.

💡 Not sure? Use the “May I save this video?” tool above.

6

Paste the link and pick a format

Paste the video address (or use the built-in search), then choose MP4 or MKV and the resolution, or MP3, M4A or Opus for audio. Switch subtitles on if you need them.

7

Save and organise

Start the download; several can run at once. Albums and playlists from your own or licensed sources go into their own folders.

8

Take it with you

Open the file on your PC, or send it to your phone with the QR code. Check for updates during your first year so sources keep working.

- If MovieJack is not for you, request your refund within 60 days.

OPTIONAL

Good, responsible uses

These are the kinds of content MovieJack is well suited to.

Back up your own channel

1. Paste links to your own uploads.
2. Save in the best quality as MP4 or MKV.
3. Keep a copy on an external drive.

Your content, your copy.

Study offline

1. Lectures and talks published under Creative Commons.
2. Save audio as MP3 for listening on the go.
3. Keep subtitles for language learning.

Follow each licence's conditions.

Travel without internet

1. Your own or licensed videos for the trip.
2. Choose 720p to save space.
3. Send them to your phone by QR code.

Use our trip planner.

YOUR 60-DAY TEST PLAN

Make the most of the money-back window

Day 1	Install, activate and save one of your own videos.
Week 1	Try audio-only and subtitles on licensed content.
Weeks 2–6	Build a small offline library for a trip or study.
Before day 60	Decide: keep it, or request your refund through the Digistore24 order e-mail.

FAQ

Quick answers

What is MovieJack?

MovieJack is Windows software from Engelmann Software that saves online video and audio to your computer for offline use, in formats such as MP4, MKV, MP3, M4A and Opus.

Is it legal to use MovieJack?

The software itself is legal, but what you save matters. Save only content you own, that is licensed for copying (e.g. Creative Commons, public domain) or that you have permission to keep, and respect each site's terms. This is general information, not legal advice.

Can I download YouTube videos with it?

Your own uploads, yes. YouTube's terms do not allow downloading other people's videos with third-party tools; for those, use YouTube's own offline feature or ask the creator for permission.

Does it work with Netflix, Disney+ or Spotify?

No. Copy-protected streaming content is not what MovieJack is for — use the services' own download features for offline viewing.

Which formats does it save?

Video as MP4 or MKV (up to 4K where available) and audio as MP3, M4A or Opus, according to Engelmann.

Does it keep subtitles?

Yes, subtitles can be saved and embedded automatically where the source provides them.
